OTHER CANDIDATES IN THE RACE.

If Burrows Does Succeed Himself It Will Be Only After a Sharp Contest-Ex-Governor Rich in Washington in the Interest of Dollar Lumber-Secretary of War in Favor of the Mackinac Island Scheme -Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, April 20 .- "It is almost too early to talk about the senatorial succession," says Senator Burrows. He added: "And my successor will not be elected until the legislature meets in 1899, and that is twenty months in the future. Many things may happen in that length of time. I do not mind saying, however, that it is my present intention to be a candidate to succeed myself, if I live."

It has been understood for some time that Senator Burrows will be a candidate before the next legislature, and it is also known that his election can be achieved only after a sharp contest, because there are other candidates.

Ex-Senator John Patton, of Grand Rapids, who was appointed by Govern-or Rich to succeed Senator Stockbridge and who served in the senate for six months, was a member of that august body long enough to become enamored of that branch of public life; and he will undoubtedly endeavor to secure his election to succeed Senator Burrows, It is known, however, that ex-Congress-man William Alden Smith, of Grand Repids, is not inclined to support Senr Patton. Personally, they are very arm friends, but Congressman Smith calizes that, if ex-Senator Patton should be elected to the senate, that fact will render nugatory all of the senatorial aspirations which Mr. Smith may entertain for the future. Therefore it may be difficult for ex-Senator Patton to secure the solid Kent county delega-

Olds May Be a Candidate.

Schuyler S. Olds, of Lansing, who for many years was the political manager of Senator Stockbridge and whose political sagacity is well known to all the Republican leaders, was a formidable candidate before the legislature at the time of the election of Senator Burrows and it is most likely that he will be a candidate before the next legislature. Some of his friends in Washington say that he is at work even now in planning for the future, with the senatorial toga Ex-Governor John T. Rich, and

Messrs. Churchill, of Alpena, Mould, of Sheboygan, are in the city again in the interests of dollar lumber. Senator Burrows has been to see the secretary of war about re-ceding Mackinac island to the general government It is the desire of the people of Michigan to have the historic fort regarrisoned, and it believed by them that it is a matter of such international interest that it should certainly be made a matter of national interest. The secretary of war assured Senator Burrows that he is heartily in favor of the project.

Phil T. Colgrove and Marshal L. Cook, of Hastings, have been here in the interests of Judge Clement Smith, who wants to be United States judge for the Sixth federal district. This office cannot be created until next winter.

E. W. Sparrow, of Lansing: A. Wheeler, of Maninstee, and J. S. Stearns, of Ludington, have been working during the past week with the members of the senate committee on finance in favor of a $2 schedule for lumber.

Less Protection No Protection. Henry M. Loud, of Au Sable, was here during the past week working most ule. He says that less protection than that would be no protection at all. The appointment of Henry M. Duffield to be historian of the Chickamauga Park association, was made by the pres ident, principally because of the urgent recommendation of Secretary Alger.

Gil R. Lovejoy, of Lennox, has been in Washington during the past week urging the senators to personally pre-sent his papers to the president and re-quest his appointment as the collector of the port at Port Huron.

William Jones, a prominent furniture dealer of Grand Rapids, has been here for a few days with his son. They have started on their return journey home.

There are only five Michigan congres sional representatives in the city, all of the others having gone home. who remain here on duty are Congressmen S. M. Smith, Crump, Spaulding, Hamilton and Mesick. It is generally believed that the house will soon order the return of all absentees.

Hon, D. A. Blodgett is on his way back from his Florida trip, and will pass through Washington during the coming week.

"Uncle James Monroe" and Theron Giddings, of Kalamazoo, will be in Washington during the coming week. "Uncle James" has long been the trusted friend and political manager of the campaigns of Julius Caesar Burrows, and the junior senator holds him in high esteeem.

John J. Coon, of Flint, has made a second visit to Washington to see the president and urge his appointment to the position of consul general to Maxi-The Michigan senators have recommended this appointment verbally and in writing. The president, however, has given no indication of his intentions in this case.

Among the new applicants of the week came Ransom C. Johnson, of Flint, who filed a large number of indorsements with the secretary of state. He wants to be appointed consul general to Melbourne, Australia. There are many other Michigan men who want consulates, but the civil service orders of President Cleveland have limited the number of available places, and there will be many disappointments.

During the past week H. Call Joiner of Hillsdale, and Eber Ward, of Detroit, have filed their applications for the position of appraiser of the port at Detriot: and there are others. C. F. Kimball, of Pontiac, who was formerly appraiser, is regarded as a very formidable candidate in this in-

Andrew Fyfe, of Grand Rapids, a prominent gold Democrat, who has been surveyor of custom, has filed an application for appointment to that position. A vancancy will occur on the 11th of May.

Tax Should Be Fair to All.

Senator Allison of Iowa, who is in harge of the bill now being formulated by the senate committee on finance, says that by whatever name a tax may be called, it can have no excuse for its being if it is not a fair one-fair to all. A tax which is imposed upon one class of producers and which is not levied upon another class equally obliged to help to support the state and able to pay its quota of taxation, is an unfair and an unjustifiable tax. In the making of a tariff the question of fairness and impartiality should be the crucial one.

There are in the United States so many persons engaged in the sheepraising industry; there are so many persons engaged in the cattle-raising industry. The former have demanded and received from the ways and means committee higher duties on some grades of wool than have ever been conceived by any tariff. In order to make it possible for those manufacturers, whose raw material is wool, to continue in business, correspondingly high, or so-called "compensatory" duties, are to be levied upon their manu-

Is Perfectly Fair.

This balancing of duties, as between the growers and manufacturers of wool, is perfectly fair and in strict accordance with the primal principle of taxation, which declares that taxes shall be uniform and equitable. The act, because it will infair to the per cent, the prices creace at of consumers of every to the mill article of t clothing, their bedding, heir furnishing, made their carpet wholly c ly of wool. This is a necessity of protection, or, at least, the ways and . . ns committee believe it to be so: " ther is it less fair because the Dingle ariff, in its present form, is not, except incidentally, a revenue, but a protective tariff. If it were the former instead of the latter, it would tax, or tax more heavily, those things which are universally recognized as being the most appropriately subject to taxation for revenue-such things, for instance, as tea and coffee, which are on the free list; spirituous and malt liquors, tobacco, raw and manufactured, which are already taxed to some degree. Sugar being taxed, so should ea and coffee be, upon which so low a duty could be put that while it would scarcely effect the cost of these table necessaries to consumers, it would yield a desirable amount of revenue.

Pernicions Luxuries. An additional tax on those pernicious luxuries-spirits, beer and tobaccowould yield a much larger amount of revenue and materially assist in placing the government's finances upon a wholly satisfactory foundation.

The Dingley tariff, however, is di-rectly a protective and only indirectly a revenue measure, precisely as it appears to be indirectly a trust-promoting measure. Such being the case, why should not imported hides and skins, as well as imported wool, be made to pay a fair protective duty?

Senator Mantle of Montana, repre senting the sheep-raisers of the west. has prepared an amendment to the Dingley wool schedule which is practically prohibitory of certain grades of foreign wool; and as the votes of the western senators will be needed to pass the bill, Mr. Mantle's amendment will probably be adopted. The hides and skins product of this country is a mpre valuable one than the wool clip. and is certainly as fully entitled to protection. The farms of A. and B. are divided by a wire fence. A. raises cattle, B. sheep. Why should B,'s product be protected by high or prohibitory duties and A.'s be denied any protection by being put on the free list? A. and B. should be dealt with allke. Some Angry Protests, The New England and New York dealers in hides and skins and the manufacturers of leather goods are angrily protesting against the proposal to place hides and skins on the dutia-ble list. And unless "compensatory" duties are given the manufacturers of leather goods, their protest should have weight. But, having the same right to "compensatory" duties as the manufacturers of wool, they should, and no doubt will, be given the full measure of protection which such duties afford. A large part of our enormous export trade in leather goods will probably be lost to us, but that is also a necessity of the situation. Besides, what are for eign markets to our manufacturers? What they demand is the "home market," and if the Dingley bill passes as it left the house, they are likely to get the home market and no other.

Time Ripe for Action. With the credit of the government established, with the assurance of ample revenue to meet all the demands of the treasury, and with the tariff policy of the nation absolutely settled for at least four years to come, there is no reason why men of energy and credit should not take advantage of the cheap money markets of the country and enlarge our industrial operations whenever there is a promise of fair re-turns. We have the chief elements to give success to industrial advancement. We have general confidence ality of our productive industries; we have established credit; we have a protective tariff policy assured, and there is no reason why there should not be an early and very large employment of the idle capital of the country in channels which would give increased de-mands for labor and greatly quicken our movement toward substantial pros DUNBAR.

PRESIDENT ANGELL'S MISSION.

It is thought by those in a position to know that President Angell is being sent to Turkey to straighten out the existing complications of the Ottoman empire that are of vital interest to America, and that his commission is now for one year with the probability of its being extended the full time of the administration. The board of regents will meet on the 29th of this month and will vote a leave of absence for the doctor, who is at present in New Orleans with his family

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH. Two Engines Jump the Track and Roll Down an Embankment.

Kalispel, Mont., April 21,-Eastbound passenger train No. 4 on the Great Northern railroad struck a broken rail when at a point about two miles east of Bear creek. The train was being pulled by two engines, and as it struck the broken rail both locomotives broke loose from the train and were hurled down a steep embankment. One engine went down the mountain about 200 feet, and the other about fifty feet. The helper was in charge of Engineer Silas Schutt and John Barr, fireman, and the regular was in charge of W. H. Smith, engineer, and Arnet Hogan, fireman. None of them was killed, but all were badly hurt. As the engines started to leave the track they broke away from the coaches, the air was put on instantly and the train of cars came to a sudden standstill. "I guess I've
